

Himalaya Film Festival 2010 New York

KUMARI, THE LIVING GODDESS

As a revolution ignites, the hidden lives of three girls worshipped as goddesses unfold. Set in the Himalayan Kingdom of Nepal, the film begins as an elegy to a private world of ritual and devotion. Their ancient world collides irreversibly with the modern world as an ancient prophecy unfolds. The King wrests power as a Maoist-led civil war rages. The people take to the streets demanding freedom. The struggle for power is seen through the eyes of the child-goddesses, in a story of changing worlds.

More info at: www.livinggoddessmovie.com

Ishbel Whitaker

Duration: 87 minutes

